Fee will help Montverde pay for water plant

July 12, 2007

MONTVERDE

The Town Council has approved a large impact fee to help cover the cost of a proposed water plant.

New homes and businesses that hook up to the town utility will have to pay $4,532 each.

The new plant planned near County Road 455 and Fosgate Road could cost up to $2.4 million. The facility is expected to bolster Montverde's water system and to provide utility access for hundreds more homes and businesses.

Robert Sargent and Martin E. Comas of the Sentinel staff contributed to this report.
